The man and the dog

One day, the man went to the store for buying some carrots for the party he had at his house.

Outside the store, there was a dog.

He gave a carrot to the dog.

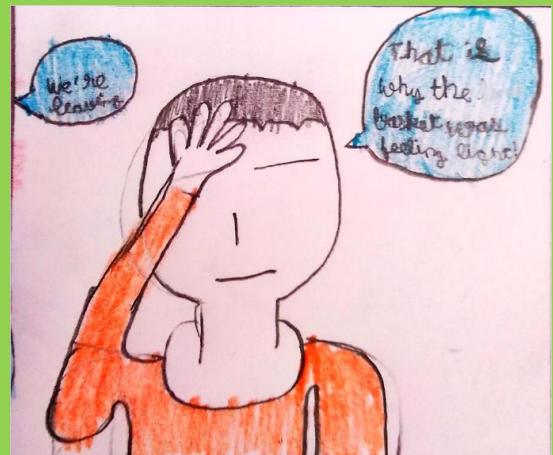

The dog loved carrots.

The man stopped to talk with his friend. Meanwhile, the dog ate almost all the carrots and also tore his wallet.

The man felt the basket light after his friend went. When he reached home:

When he saw his wallet, he understood that the dog did all this.
